Ballineen Enniskeane Community Alert

Following a number of incidents in the locality during the early hours of Saturday last the Ballineen Enniskeane Community Alert group met with Sergeant Ian O Callaghan. He would like to assure you that arrests have been made, the accused are not local and do not appear to have planned to arrive here specifically. We would remind everyone to set house alarms if you have them, to lock out-houses securely and especially to make sure your cars are locked. We have Property Log Books available to purchase from any Committee Member and welcome new additions to the Text Alert Scheme. Finally Sgt. O'Callaghan is very happy to speak to or visit anyone who is concerned following these events.

Funeral Ministry

The diocese is providing training in the coming weeks for people to be part of parish Funeral Ministry Teams. A group of parishioners from our parish have been invited to attend. They will become the first Funeral Ministry team in our parish. Also attending the training will be the first people to train from Bandon parish, additional people to serve in Murragh parish, along with people from other West Cork parishes. The training will be held at Ovens Parish Centre.
